Dear REMSA Inc,

I am very interested in gaining the opportunity to work alongside you as well as extremely passionate about the environment and the species in it. I have always had a passion for animals and other insects growing up and have always cared about their ability to thrive where they are. Ever since I saw your ad on indeed about this job listing, I have gotten excited just thinking about this possible opportunity!

I believe that I would be a huge help with projects like these listed on your website. I am a people person and would be more than willing to work with others to get the right solutions in place to best suit a particular species without impeding others along the way. I like to think of myself as a good problem solver especially in practical scenarios and know that I am well versed in being able to keep up with small details and key ones within a report of a particular area/species. I'm more than willing to study a new species that I have little familiarity with in order to know more about them in my work, and I have no issues with striving for more knowledge in an area that I know little about to get the best results.

I would love the opportunity to sit down with you and further discuss details of my experience and work history as well as express my passion for this field. I am a hard-working person and have no issue with getting the required permits in order to have a job such as this, and I look forward to meeting you. All the information needed to contact me is on the left side of this letter, and I can't wait to hear from you.

Sincerely,
Jakob Wahlers.
